Frequently Asked Questions:

I'm applying as a Member-at-Large. Do I still need signatures of a sponsor and a Branch Membership Chair?

Member-at-Large applicants do not need to submit:

1. Signature of sponsor,
2. Signature of Branch Membership Chair,
3. Letter of recommendation from the branch.

Submit your application directly to the appropriate National Credentials Officer listed at the bottom of the application.

Does my branch really have to do this application process by itself? We have never done this before.

Your NLAPW membership committee stands ready to help. If you have a question about the process, please email the Membership Development Chair or, if your question is about the credentials, please email the Credentials Officer listed on this application form.

I show my artwork in galleries and do not enter juried shows. Will I qualify for membership?

Yes, because your work has been selected (juried in) by a gallery owner to be marketed and promoted by them. A co-op gallery might be considered if we have verification from a branch member that this is not one in which the artist pays a fee to be represented. Some co-op galleries are very selective and require rigorous jurying so verification from that branch to confirm this. Online galleries are not the same and are not considered a juried situation.

What is the difference between a juried and judged art show?

A juried show has selected your work from a pool of applicants for a show. A judged show is open to anyone, and judged with awards.

If I have sold three pieces of artwork, does this qualify me?

For associate membership, sale of works is not necessary.

You must provide evidence of having work juried into three shows. Examples of evidence would be a program with your name in it, (showing "Juried Show" with the name of the juror(s), and description of his/her credentials), or an art calendar with a copy of the jurying process and your work in it, a poster or magazine article showing your work in a juried exhibition, etc.
